

COOLIDGE SEEKS TO SWING TIDE AGAINST BONUS

President Brings Weight of Personal Influence to Bear On Senators

Washington, May 19—President Coolidge set out in earnest today to swing the senate tide in favor of sustaining his veto of the soldiers' bonus bill.

The fate of the bonus was considered today as hanging upon the narrowest of margins in the senate. If the seven senators who were summoned to the White House this morning would vote to sustain the President's veto, it is not improbable the measure would be defeated by one or two votes, exact figures being impossible because of the uncertainty of the number of senators who will absent themselves from the chamber at voting time.

Senators attending the breakfast were noncommittal when they left the White House.

Senator Harrell ventured the opinion that "no votes have been changed by the breakfast conference," but did not say how he would vote.

Following departure of the seven guests, Senator Smoot, Republican of Utah and Senator Kendrick, Democrat of Wyoming, called on the President. He received them at the mansion instead of the executive office as he is still suffering slight effects of the cold contracted last week.

Bringing the weight of his personal influence to bear on "doubtful" senators, the President had as his breakfast guests at the White House this morning seven Republican senators whose commitments in favor of the bonus are said not to be irrevocable. They were: Harrell, of Oklahoma; Phipps of Colorado; Sterling of South Dakota; McKinley of Illinois; Cameron of Arizona; Dale of Vermont and Keyes of New Hampshire.

Fresh from its overwhelming victory in the house, the soldiers' bonus bill was considered by the senate today in the last step of the fight for its enactment into law over the veto of President Coolidge.

The bill, providing paid up government insurance for 4,000,000 soldiers faced its final barrier in the senate under conditions presaging the greatest legislative battle of the present congress advocates and opponents were provoked to unusual fever by the President's decisive veto message.

A thin line of "doubtful" senators, twelve in number, stood between the bill and its enactment over the President's veto. The fate of the bill rests on their votes.

The administration brought its big siege guns to bear upon this "wavering" line while advocates of the bonus subjected it to a steady cross fire of appeals to vote according as they did when the bill first passed the senate two weeks ago. And over the whole senate fell a barrage of telegrams from every corner of the nation, praising and condemning the bonus.

The doubtful line includes Senator Cameron, Arizona; Colt, Rhode Island; Elkins, West Virginia; Fess, Ohio; Harrell, Oklahoma; Keys, New Hampshire; McLean, Connecticut; Phipps, Colorado; Spencer, Missouri; Sterling, South Dakota; Warren, Wyoming and Willis, Ohio. If a majority of these senators finally throw their support to the President, the bonus faced defeat. If most of them support the bill, its passage over the veto was conceded.

Bonus leaders were confident of winning. Senator Curtis, Republican of Kansas, who fathered the present bill, declared it would pass "by a narrow margin."

A similar prediction was made by Senator Robinson, Democrat of Kansas, minority floor leader, who heads the Democratic bonus advocates.

The sentiment in favor of adjustment compensation is so pronounced that no effort, however well conceived or cleverly executed, can prevent its enactment into law, said Robinson.

Poes of the bonus were just as certain they would gain enough of the "wavering" senators to uphold the President's veto. Senators Borah, Republican, of Idaho and Reed, Republican, of Pennsylvania, heading the bonus opposition, declared the bill's fate depended upon the swing of a very few votes.

Under the surface, managers of the two factions were busy "polling" the strength.

The large number of absentees made this work far more important than the speeches openly made for, or against the bill.

GIVEN PAROLE

Clarence Schwaner, Yellow Springs, has been granted a parole from the Mansfield Reformatory, where he has been confined since December 1922, for complicity in the hold up and robbery of Postmaster Ellis of Port William, December 16, 1922.

Samuel Jamison and Clifford Brewer, both of Yellow Springs, who have also served reformatory sentences for complicity in the same affair were paroled last fall. The trio was found guilty of holding up the postmaster as he was returning home with the day's receipts. They obtained only a small amount of money and escaped in an auto truck, but were arrested shortly afterward at their homes.

Edna Wallace Hopper, rejuvenated actress, announced in Los Angeles, that she is soon to marry a British Army officer in China. She declined to give his name, declaring she had "lost a couple that way." Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario, Canada, is leading the attack on the right of Chicago to take so much water from Lake Michigan for the sanitary district of Chicago, said to be an encroachment on the rights of Canada and the State of New York. It is estimated the diverted water causes a loss of 500,000 electric horsepower. The Duchess of Westminster, wife of England's richest peer, is said to be seeking a divorce in London because her husband refused her permission to use London palace for a charity ball. Edward Payson Weston, 58-year-old world famous pedestrian, was shot in the leg and seriously beaten by a mob in his lonely home near Kingston, N. Y. Mystery surrounded the attack.

BREAD WEIGHT LAWS IN SCORE OF STATES MUST BE MODIFIED

Washington, May 19—Bread weight laws of twenty or more states must be modified immediately to meet the requirements laid down in a recent decision of the United States Supreme Court, the United States Bureau of Standards announced today in connection with a national weights and measure conference to open here May 26.

The conference is expected to recommend a national bread law, fixing standard weights, so that the public will be amply protected against fraud. The Supreme Court nullified certain provisions of the Nebraska standard weight bread law directly affecting the laws in California, Indiana, Montana, Ohio, Oregon, South Dakota, Texas, Washington and Wisconsin and indirectly affecting laws in nine other states, the bureau announced.

Concerted action is anticipated to secure modification of the present laws to conform to the Supreme Court's decision so that benefits of the legislation will not be lost. A wider range in the variation of standard bread weights, as fixed by the laws, will be necessary.

Government officials said the conference is expected to recommend passage by congress of a bread weight law affecting this commodity in interstate commerce.

Such a law has already been presented in the house, having been drafted to meet the Supreme Court requirements.

Renewed warfare will be declared

Sharon Center, received minor cuts and bruises.

Misses Allison and Fennerdy were chums, both being students at Ohio Wesleyan University. Turner and Smith are students at the Ohio State University.

AMERICAN AMBASSADOR TO JAPAN TENDERS HIS RESIGNATION OF POST

Cyrus E. Woods Asks President to Relieve Him as Soon
As Possible—Retirement Not Due To Exclusion Bill.

Washington, May 19.—Cyrus E. Woods, American ambassador to Japan, has tendered his resignation to President Coolidge and asked to be relieved of his duties at Tokio as "soon as the President can conveniently replace him," it was learned today.

Nothing connected with the present immigration situation was in any way responsible for Ambassador Woods' decision to retire, officials said. Ill health in his immediate family and other personal reasons prompted the decision, it was said.

The ambassador's resignation was submitted several weeks ago, it was learned, but because of the tenseness over the exclusion issue, extra precautions were taken here and in Tokio to prevent the news leaking out, and no announcement was made for fear that it might be "misinterpreted" and magnified into an alarming incident of Japanese-American relations.

Ambassador Woods was home on a visit several months ago, accompanying a member of his family who was in need of American medical treatment. At that time, it was said today, he informed officials here that he was afraid he would have to retire.

Further illness in his family since his return to Japan, confirmed his fear.

When the President and Secretary of State Hughes will see fit to relieve the ambassador is problematical.

The exclusion legislation, which the President and Mr. Hughes and also Woods disapproves is now before the President for signature or veto. A decision will be made within ten days, the statutory limit.

Officials were represented as being hopeful today that Woods could be prevailed upon to stay in Tokio for sometime yet, at least until the present tenseness over exclusion has passed.

Wood succeeded Charles Beecher Warren at Tokio and is considered by state department officials to have made "an excellent record." He came into the diplomatic service early in the Harding administration, being appointed ambassador to Spain. He was formerly secretary of state for Pennsylvania.

There was considerable conjecture

NOTED ALASKAN FIGURE IS DEAD

Nome, Alaska, May 19.—"Blackjack," one of Alaska's most picturesque figures, is dead. "Blackjack," 36, was famed throughout the northland as a hunter and as a carrier of walrus ivory. His first wife was Ada Blackjack, survivor of the ill-fated Stefansson expedition to Wrangel Island.

Two hours after "Blackjack" died his present wife, Mabel Blackjack, gave birth to a son.

AMERICAN HURT IN RIOT AFTER GAME IMPROVES

Paris, May 19—Gideon Nelson of DeKalb, Ill., who was struck over the head with a cane during the disorders that attended the victory of the United States Rugby football team over the French Olympic team at Colombes stadium, was reported recovering today at the American hospital at Neuilly. His condition is not serious.

The American team won by 17 to 3 in a sensational, hard fought contest. Several French Sport writers accuse the Americans of playing brutally. The French press on the whole deplored the incident, especially the hissing which began when the United States flag was raised in token of the American victory.

"The crowd was violent and unjust and did not show a sporting instinct," said L'Auto. "The incident impressed foreigners that a French crowd does not know how to accept defeat."

A second American, B. F. Larsen, was injured during the fighting in the stadium.

FRENCH HORSE DEFEATED

But a Gazette-Republican classified ad brought forward several people who wanted to own him. Chas. N. Fudge, R-S Xenia, his former owner—perhaps we should say his past master—was very much pleased with the effectiveness of Gazette-Republican ads.

The horse was sold easily and quickly.

ILLNESS BLAMED ON BEHAVIOR REACTION

Defiance, Ohio, May 19—"Nature has decided every mortal should die once. Many mortals, however, impose on nature and die every day," said Dr. L. C. Grosh, Toledo, addressing a meeting of physicians here on "Chronic Heart Ailments." He indicated that too often ailments are mental.

The tramp, the misfit and the chronic invalid, Dr. Grosh declared, often is the victim of fear, or extreme worry, which finally develops bodily symptoms, leading the patient, and sometimes his physician, to believe there is some organic disease that is causing the trouble.

"Some pray, some get drunk, some develop incapacitating dyspepsia and others nervous prostration. All these really are behavior reactions. Financial loss, or a disappointing love affair, may produce the same symptoms as a cardiac lesion, or Bright's disease," said Dr. Grosh.

He pointed out the necessity for correct diagnosis under such circumstances and urged greater attention by physicians to mental reactions of individual patients. Such practice, he declared, would result in keeping many persons away from "the cults," where they secure mental relief, which in turn eliminates many of their supposed disease symptoms.

EXPLOSIONS HINDER WORK OF FIREMEN

St. Paul, Minn., May 19—Explosions had become so frequent in the fire which was raging at the Craig Oil Refining Company's plant in West St. Paul shortly before noon today, and blazing barrels of oil were being thrown at such a tremendous distance that the fire department was forced to abandon all efforts to subdue the flames at the refining plant.

Because the flames were shooting hundreds of feet into the air, little headway was made in the search for the bodies of two men, believed to have perished in the flames.

Fire Chief Niles stated the loss would amount to a half-million and that it might be a week before the fire could be extinguished.

STATE CONVENTION OF WOMEN'S CLUBS

PASTOR'S APPEAL FROM DECISION IS DISMISSED

Removal Of Minister From Charge Sustained By Conference.

Springfield, Mass., May 19—The Methodist general conference today dismissed the appeal of the Rev. Milton L. Bennett, of Highland Park, Michigan, from a decision of the presiding bishop at the Detroit conference in removing him from the pastorate of the church at Grayling, Michigan and in refusing to grant him leave of absence from the conference. The case was heard by the committee on judiciary, which found that the bishop acted for the best interests of the church.

The committee reported that the request for leave of absence was not properly submitted.

A plan for appointment of a special commission of twenty-five, including five bishops, ten pastors and ten laymen to make a complete study of the problem of organic union is under consideration by the conference. Upon recommendation of a special committee of nine headed by Bishop Luther B. Wilson of New York, the committee reported in favor of greater catholicity in the churches and the work of the commission will be to encourage the work of re-uniting the Evangelical churches.

Bishop Earle Cranston, retired, left for his home in Cincinnati today, after attending what he considered the greatest conference in his remembrance. He has attended all of the general conferences in the past forty-four years and he was greatly pleased with adoption of the unification plan, upon which he has worked for many years.

Bishop Cranston is 53 years old. Inquiry was being made by a committee on judiciary as the status of undergraduates in the summer schools of theology. The committee will determine whether such students can have their expenses paid by the annual conferences.

Close cooperation between the Epworth League and Sunday schools is favored by the committee on Sunday schools in a report to the conference today.

The committee requested that the organizations work together more intimately in carrying out a program for young people.

At noon it appeared problematical whether the senate would vote today on the question of overriding Senator Curtis of Kansas intended making a motion at 2 p.m. to vote, but Senator Reed, Republican of Pennsylvania, planned to object and suggest the vote be postponed until next Monday.

SENTENCED TO JAIL IN POLICE COURT

Henry Atkins, colored, was fined $25 and costs and sentenced to thirty days in the County Jail when he pleaded guilty to petit larceny before Judge E. D. Smith in Police Court Monday afternoon.

Elvie Miller, colored, arrested as an accomplice of Atkins, pleaded not guilty when arraigned Monday morning and is still locked up at Police Headquarters. He will be given a hearing later.

Henry Rich, tailor, West Main Street, told police Miller and Atkins entered his shop Saturday night and while Miller was trying on a suit, that Atkins caught up several pairs of trousers, and new coats, besides Miller's discarded coat, and ran from the store. Rich followed but was unable to trace Atkins in the street.

He was arrested at his home, 47 Taylor Street about an hour later by Patrolmen Simms and Jones, while Miller was arrested by Patrolman Clay Phipps, new policeman, who was on duty for the first time. Both pleaded not guilty Monday morning but when the stolen clothing was found at the home of a relative of Atkins, he changed his plea to guilty.

FAMED "2-GUN" WESTERNER IS DEAD, AGED 92

Denver, May 19—Active and spry to the last, Newton Vorce, picturesque frontiersman and a real gun fighter of the early days when the West was really wild and woolly, is dead at his home here at the age of 92.

Vorce was a veteran of the Civil War, having seen service with the famous Mosby guerrillas.

He came to Colorado in the middle sixties and soon became known far and wide for his daring "gun play."

Most of Vorce's life was spent in the country near Deer Trail and Byers on the prairie east of Denver. The first few years of his career in Colorado were confined to Indian fighting, but later he became involved with the minions of the law and gave many a peace officer sleepless nights.

In 1887 Vorce was arrested for a minor offense and was locked up in the Arapahoe County Jail. Tiring of the drab surroundings he kicked a hole through the jail wall, helped himself to pistols from the sheriff's office, mounted a horse and rode away. The sheriff immediately organized a posse, and in a running battle that followed Vorce had two horses shot from under him. He was finally cornered in a prairie dugout. For hours he stood off his pursuers until a stick of dynamite was hurled onto the roof of the dugout. Vorce then emerged, with a gun in each hand spitting fire. He was overpowered and recaptured.

Several years later Vorce "shot up" the town of Evans. Galloping through the main street on horseback, he smashed with bullets, every one of the town's acetylene street lamps and defied the populace, who poured out of their homes, with pistols and rifles.

Later Vorce displayed his dislike for immigrant labor when he shot up a railroad car housing a score of Greek laborers, near Byers.

Vorce's gunwielding escapades continued intermittently. At La Salle he forced a prominent Greeley business man to dance a jig in the main street, to the tune of blazing revolvers. When he was pursued by a posse, after this outbreak, Vorce was surrounded in the "Bad Lands," in eastern Colorado. He took refuge in a sheep-herder's dugout, and when the posse located him he forced the sheep-herder to put on Vorce's wearing apparel and leave the dugout. While the posse was chasing the sheepman, Vorce made good his escape.

Despite his wild career, Vorce was a favorite with the old-time cattle kings and worked as a cowpuncher on numerous ranches, being employed on a ranch near Rogen, Colo., up to within a month of his death.

Vorce is survived by his wife to whom he was married only twelve years ago, when he was 80.

WATCHING OHIO AT WASHINGTON

BY ALFRED P. RECK

In a perfectly friendly fashion, Senators Frank B. Willis, of Delaware, and Simon D. Fess, of Yellow Springs, parted company in their votes on the new tax bill when it passed the senate on Saturday.

Senator Fess believed the bill too bad for passage and voted against it. Senator Willis, while strongly disapproving some features forced into the bill by the Democratic-Radical combination controlling the senate, voted to pass the bill in the hope that some of its worst faults might be taken out by the conference committee. The senior senator from Ohio reserved the right to vote against the bill in the end, if some of the objectionable features are not eliminated by the conferees.

While there is much difference of opinion as to the wisdom of the revenue bill, Ohio certainly fared well on the various amendments that were adopted. One large industry in Cincinnati made a special request that the law should take effect on the day of its enactment instead of thirty days afterwards. This amendment was offered by Senator Willis and adopted.

Senator Willis also lead the movement to eliminate taxes on telephone and telegraph messages. Early in the session he introduced a special bill to this effect. Tax was also removed from spectacles and eye glasses with a value less than $30.

RUMANIANS AND RUSSIANS SPLIT ON BESSARABIA

Sofia, May 19—Interruption of the negotiations between Rumania and Russia at Vienna for adjustment of the Bessarabia question is causing not a little anxiety throughout South-eastern Europe.

Bulgaria is particularly interested, chiefly because there are approximately 300,000 Bulgars living in the province of Bessarabia. The Bulgarian element of the Bessarabian population is strongly opposed to Rumanian rule and, in the event of a plebiscite would support Russia. Other alien elements in Bessarabia, it is believed, also would prefer Russian rule to that of Rumania.

This attitude on the part of the Bulgars and other aliens, it is believed, is recognized by the Rumanian Government and was a strong factor influencing it to reject Russia's proposal to settle the question by referendum vote of the population. Rumania, it is understood, fear that a referendum in Bessarabia would establish a precedent of which Dobroudja would take advantage, and the population of Dobroudja is also largely Bulgar and opposed to Rumanian rule.

Throughout the Balkans the situation is considered critical, chiefly as a result of the bold declaration of the Moscow Government that it will never recognize Rumanian rule in Bessarabia. This renders Rumania's position all the more difficult, as, in addition to the Bessarabian situation, the Government is faced with serious anti-Semitic disturbances.

Rumania and Jugo-Slavia, owing to strong separatist movements within their borders, and the most unsettled nations in the Balkans. In Rumania more than two-fifths of the population is alien, and in Jugo-Slavia more than two-thirds of the population is inimical to the Belgrade Government. These countries, therefore are anxious to maintain the Little Entente as a safeguard guaranteeing territory they acquired in post-war settlements.

RUMANIA ALONE

In the event of a conflict between Russia and Rumania, it is believed that pressure from alien and other dissatisfied elements in her population would prevent Jugo-Slavia from giving effective aid to Rumania. Czecho-Slovakia alone.

MINISTERS TO MEET EVERY 3 MONTHS

of inquiry. Who knows what tiny sounds made by insects or animals may be discovered? By careful records and amplifications we may possibly ascertain that there are sounds which up to the present have not been distinguished by our ordinary hearing apparatus.

"Wireless is a science of infinite potentialities. The achievements already recorded are probably only a tithe of what will be accomplished in the future."

REMAINS OF GIANT REPTILE REVEALED

Brisbane, Australia, May 19—Announcement is made of the discovery of a new type of fossil animal which represents by far the largest marine reptile ever found in Australia.

The announcement is based on the report of Heber Longman, director of the Queensland Museum, who examined a fragment of bone from the fossil eight inches long, five inches in diameter and five inches in height, containing the remains of six enormous teeth.

The bone was found at Hughenden, over which the sea at some period flowed and over which on subsiding it left many specimens of prehistoric marine reptiles embedded in the marine deposits.

Authorities have agreed that at least several million years have elapsed since these deposits were made.

The fossil represents part of the lower jaw, with the right and left sides united on a strong, beak-like formation.

COMMISSION FOR CITY PLANNING IS URGED FOR XENIA

City Manager S. O. Hale is expected to lay the proposed appointment of a City Planning Commission for Xenia before the City Commission at its next meeting, it was learned Monday.

Appointment of such a commission is being urged by organizations and individuals interested in city beautification and the restriction of building projects in residential sections.

This work is only partially covered by the building code now in force, officials say, and people interested believe a planning commission is now needed. Such a commission would regulate the erection of factories or business structures in residential districts, through the establishment of a zoning ordinance fixing certain sections as residential and therefore restricted for building purposes and certain other sections as factory and business sections.

The commission would protect individual property interests it is said. Urged to carry out such a plan, City Manager Hale will lay the program before the City Commission, it is now said.

MODISH MITZI—Adelaide Is Engaged! We Knew It All The Time.

BY JAY V. JAY

This is by way of being an engagement luncheon. There are many people present, but they could not all be put in the picture. Adelaide and Harry are engaged! And Mitzi is very glad to have Harry off her mind. These are their dresses:

Aunt Sophia wears a frock of tan crepe with a very nice neckline. Mitzi's dress is black and white satin, strategically combined. Adelaide's is pleated black satin and cream colored lace. Polly wears a little brown silk frock trimmed with tan lace ruffles.

Harry finds himself the center of some slight attention, too. The Goofer and the Earnest Young Man are fearfully relieved that it is Adelaide and not Mitzi he succeeded in engaging to himself. Dad considers marriage, and Aunt Sophia—who is not nearly so close a relation as she might be.

The gentlemen are properly attired in the costumes for formal afternoon wear. They wear morning coats and striped trousers, wing collars and bowties. So far they are alike. Beyond that they may vary in details. Life is real and it's going to be earnest for Harry from now on!

MACDONALD IS BRITAIN'S HOPE, THINKS EDITOR

Columbus, O., May 19—Upon the shoulders of England's "man of the hour"—Premier Ramsay MacDonald—rests the destiny of the British Labor Party, which is now having its first taste of directing the policies of the Empire.

With these words, Sidney J. Wicks, an editor of the Manchester Guardian, England's leading liberal newspaper, described the prospects for success or failure of the Labor regime in his country, which, he said, has so far "made good" with the British people.

Wicks expressed the opinion that should MacDonald, through some unforeseen act of fate, be suddenly removed from the helm of his party, that body would almost immediately crumble in importance and cease to exist as the governing group of the nation.

Premier MacDonald stands aloof from other statesmen of England as a diplomat whose hands are not stained by any secret diplomacy, he said, and the Premier embodies the hope of the English people.

Pursuing an extremely cautious and chaste course and ignoring the pleas of "hot-headed" radicals to interpret power as license, the Labor Premier has been steadily gaining the confidence and favor of even the most incredulous, Wicks declared.

At present, it was said, MacDonald's paramount hope is for world peace. Realizing that order must be restored among the nations of the world before England is to regain her markets, so vitally needed if she is to steer her industries back to normalcy, the Laborites are exerting every effort to attain that condition.

While approved by MacDonald in general principle, the League of Nations, as formulated at the Versail-es Peace Conference, has many points that are unacceptable to the Premier and his party, Wicks said.

Those who foresaw in the advent of the Labor Party to control of the Government a widespread wave of socialism sweeping over the Empire have yet to witness such radical changes, and, according to the British journalist, there will never be radicalism under the Labor regime.

"Although there may be evolutionary changes toward the nationalization of certain industries, probably starting in the great coal industry, these new ideas will be introduced slowly and will be attended by no disorder or great overturning of the existing Government," Wicks predicted.

"Many Socialists are members of the Labor Party, to be sure," he added, "but it also is true that there are a great many anti-Socialists within its ranks, and any form of socialism finally incorporated will hardly be recognizable as such."

Germination of the desire for a labor party was attributed to the failure of the Church in the early part of the present century to eradicate certain orthodox dogmas. Prior to that time, the editor said, labor was interested only in economic welfare.

"Young intellectuals of that period," he declared, "demanded acknowledgment of evolution and the practical application of Christ's teachings. When the Church stood reluctant to accede to the two demands the group of intellectuals sought social reforms in their government."

"In England the social issues about which America is quarreling today—fundamentalism and modernism—have been settled for thirty years. The Church of England has accepted evolution."

Succeeding this intellectual group in the Labor Party came the practical body of men of which Ramsay MacDonald was the leader, Wicks said.

Lloyd George, former Premier was characterized as a "man of the crisis," who is through as a governmental leader unless some great national issue arises and he is then swept back into power on a reactionary wave.

LOOKING BACKWARD

A little extract from the story of Hannibal Hamlin and Edward D. Baker, a Democrat from the East and a Republican from the West, who met in the Senate of the United States in an ever memorable day follows:

Hannibal Hamlin was born a Democrat, and lived a Democrat until 1856, when he saw the light. May 28, 1856, six days after the attack on Sumpter Hamlin wrote Senator Fessenden: "We are having rare times here, such as I have never seen. It is my candid opinion that some will be shot down before the session closes. All I have to say is, let it come. If we do not stand manfully and fearlessly to the work before us, we ought to be slaves."

On the 12th day of June, 1856, six days after the Democratic national convention in Cincinnati, Senator Hamlin made his memorable speech in which he said: "I love my party but I love my country more than I do my party."

In that memorable session of Congress preceding the attack on Sumpter and the War of the Rebellion, the young Demosthenes from Oregon, Edward D. Baker, made his memorable reply to Benjamin of Louisiana. Southern senators and representatives were beginning to leave their seats. In 60 days President Lincoln was to be inaugurated and in 60 days more the South was to be in open revolt and the country in actual war. Slidell and Benjamin, of Louisiana were to withdraw from the senate on Feb. 5. Mr. Baker had been a member of the Senate only 60 days. Mr. Hamlin had been in the Senate more than seven years. Both were fighting now for the same cause—the cause of the Republican party. Mr. Baker's reply to Benjamin was likened unto Webster's historic reply to Haynes many years before! In fact, the senator from Oregon adopted the closing passage of that immortal speech. "When my eyes shall be turned to behold for the last time the sun in heaven may I not see him shining on the broken and dishonored fragments of a once glorious Union; on states dismembered, discordant, belligerent; on a land rent with civil feuds or drenched it may be, in fraternal blood! Let their last feeble and lingering glance rather behold the gorgeous ensign of the republic, now known and honored throughout the earth, till full high advanced, its arms and trophies streaming in their original luster, not a single star obscured, bearing for its motto no such miserable interrogatory as 'What is all this worth?' nor those other words of delusion and folly, 'Liberty, first and Union afterwards'; but everywhere, spread all over in characters of living light, blazing on all its ample folds they float over the sea and over the land, and in every mind under the whole heavens that other sentiment, dear to every true American heart, 'Liberty and Union, now and forever, one and inseparable.'"

DEATH OF NOTED MAN WHO LIVED AT YELLOW SPRINGS SEVERAL YEARS

Marion Lawrance left the office of the International Council of Christian Education in Chicago on March 25 for a speaking trip in the interest of organized Sunday School work and completed the journey by entering his Heavenly Home on May 1. No one has ever been known personally by as many Sunday School people as has this leader with countless friends in all parts of the world. Dr. Lawrance contracted a cold while on the Pacific Coast and on reaching Portland, Oregon, was forced to cancel his engagements and give attention to himself. Pneumonia with other complications developed. Sympathetic and loving friends were near to give him every attention. At the time of his home-going his son, daughter and brother were with him. He was ill only a few days.

This Sunday School man had written numerous books and it would require a sizable book to describe his life, which was so rich in both experience and service. He was born October 2, 1850, at Gratis, Preble County, Ohio. He began his Sunday School career when taken to that institution by his beloved mother at the age of three and one-half years. Some people give their church membership, but Dr. Lawrance gave his affiliation through the Sunday School. From four to twenty years of age he was connected with Christian Sunday School (not Disciples) at Yellow Springs, Ohio; from twenty-three to fifty-seven with the Washington street Congregational Sunday School, Toledo; and from fifty-seven on with the South Congregational Sunday School in Chicago. He had been Chorister, Assistant Superintendent, Teacher and for thirty-one years Superintendent of the school in Toledo, which is known as the Marion Lawrance Sunday School. When he moved to Chicago he was made Life Superintendent of that Toledo school.

MAY

Here's May in the word,
With her petals of pink
And her skies just as bright
As a baby's first wink.
And the trees newly gown'd
In the loveliest green,
And young life where the scars
Of old winter have been!

Here's May once again!
With her orchards in bloom,
Like a bride at the altar
Arrayed for the groom;
There's a wreath in her hair,
And her bridal bouquet
Scatters beauty afar
As she flings it away.

Here's May with her youth,
Just as lovely to see
As when first the world looked
On the green of the tree.

Man runs his brief race,
Then his story is told
And the grave takes him in,
But May never grows old.

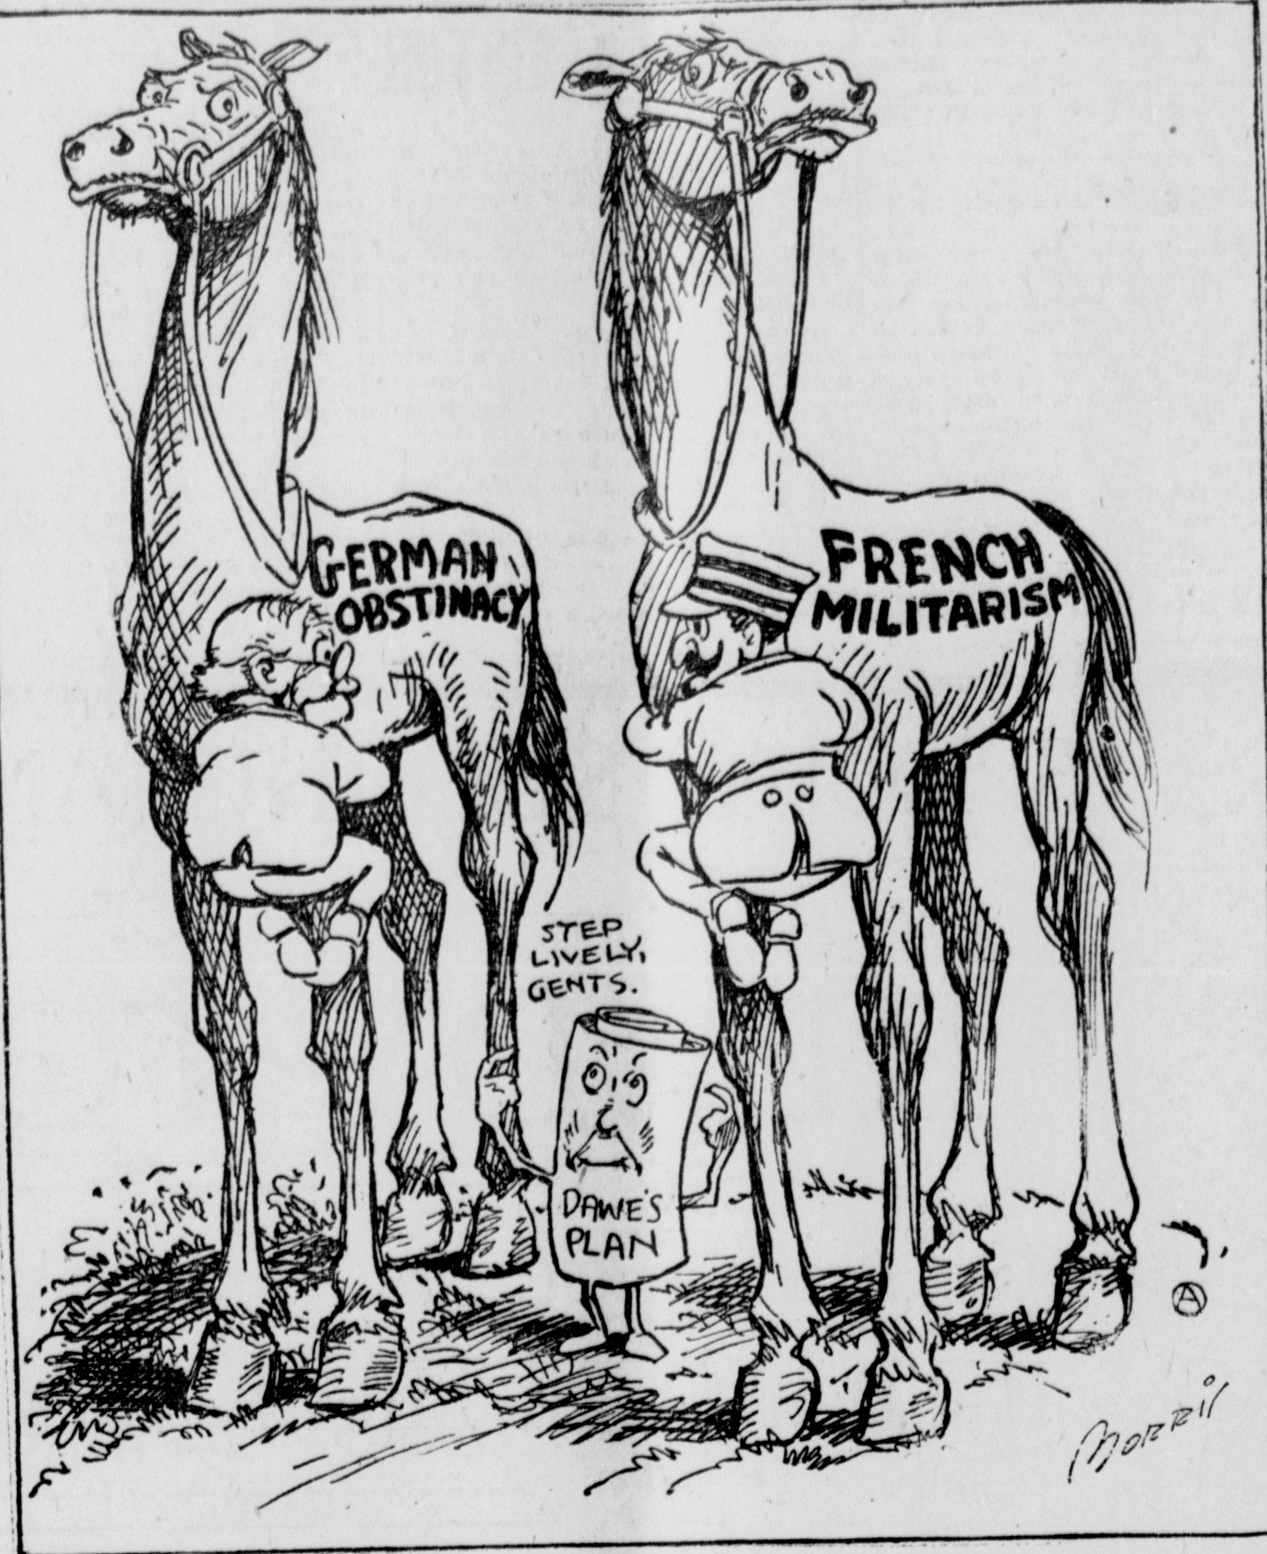

Here's May! The same May
Which thrilled men of the past,
As she was long ago,
She shall be to the last,
And though over the world
Countless ages have rolled,
May has smiled at them all
And never grown old.

THE GIVER

Behind the place where I live there is a spring. Day and night, year in and year out, for years this spring has been running continuously. Long before there were homes about it, people came from afar to quench their thirst with its cool flow.

The spring's waters are pure and health giving, for nothing is allowed to accumulate in the waters. Sieved through rocks and gravel for miles and miles, all impurities are washed away before its sparkling waters are offered to whomsoever may take and drink.

About a mile from this spring is a pond. It is still and stagnant. If you were to drink from it, you might die from its accumulated poisons. It gives nothing.

But the little spring is always giving, giving, giving. And always it is made and kept clean by moving, moving, moving.

Keep your heart like the little spring. Keep the kind and thoughtful deeds flowing all the time. Keep renewing your efforts to help and to render service wherever you may.

If troubles come, if discouragements creep in, let them flow away. Never get a stagnant heart.

Harbor nothing that makes you ashamed or unhappy.

And when gladness comes to you, give it away. Then other happiness will come and you can give it away also.

The only satisfactory life is the one that is continually giving away and renewing itself.

The spring is the giver and it passes on its gifts. The pool gives nothing and poisons even that which it boards.

Be like the spring!

THOUSANDS RUSH TO NEW DIAMOND FIELD

Johannesburgh, May 19—Scenes and stories reminiscent of the first diamond rushes are reported from Stompies, where a large diamond field was recently discovered.

Ten thousand diggers have already arrived. It is stated, while hundreds more, including many blacks, are streaming in from all sides daily.

The nearest town is 20 miles away, and everybody is living on the bare veld. Whole families are said to be stowed away in miscellaneous vehicles, with sacking for roofing.

Enteric trouble is said to be rife, the food conditions being deplorable, even water having to be bought from vendors.

A farmer arrived at the diggings to try his luck, but could only get a piece of waste ground no one else would have. After setting to work on the lot he discovered several stones, eventually sold his claim for more than $40,000 and went home.

Another prospector almost went mad with joy when he sold his diamonds for $45,000.

EAST END NEWS

AUTO AGENCY TO MOVE LOCATION

Dickman and Johnston, automobile agencies, expect to move from their present location, North Whiteman Street, to their new sales room and garage on West Main Street, sometime between June 1 and June 15, it was announced Monday.

The new location is in the Charles Hupman building, formerly owned and occupied by Xenia Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles. The automobile concern will take the entire ground floor in addition to a new garage and service station now under course of erection in the rear of the present building.

The addition is 30 by 100 feet in dimensions, and will house the repair, and service department of the concern, accessible through alley entrances on King and Galloway Street. The ground floor of the present building will be used as the display and sales room for Fisk tires and accessories. The room was recently vacated by the removal of the John Vanderpool store.

The Dickman and Johnston Company, has occupied its present quarters since January, 1923, when the firm was established here. The concern has the agency for Fiat, Durant and Star automobiles. The removal to the new quarters will await completion of the garage addition in the rear.

WOMAN DIVES FOR OLD TREASURE SHIP

London, May 19.—Margaret Naylor, first woman deep-sea diver, is renewing attempts at Tobermory, off the west coast of Scotland, to salvage the Spanish treasure ship "Admiral of Florence," sunk there in November 1588.

Reputed to have 30,000,000 golden "pieces of eight" aboard, the sunken galleon has hitherto defied every attempt at salvage. In 1913, however, Colonel Foss succeeded in recovering from her pewter dishes, coins, cannon balls and other relics. But he met with an accident and has trained Miss Naylor to take over his work. "It ought to be a fairly simple job now," says Colonel Foss. "Miss Naylor has discovered that the vessel's poop lies under three feet of clay, and this can be cleared away in a couple of days. It will then remain to get into the ship by sluicing the mud and sand out of her. When this has been done a better idea can be formed as to the best means of raising the ship to the surface."

The first attempt to recover the lost treasure was made by Archibald Milner, who descended in a primitive diving bell in the seventeenth century. He secured an iron box, with documents relating to the treasure, two huge anchors and a crown and diadem. The crown and diadem he lost as he rose to the surface. Various other attempts at subsequent times have gained various articles of beautiful workmanship, but the treasure has so far remained intact.

Health Hints

by the Father of Physical Culture

BERNARD MACFADDEN

If your eyes are weak or your sight impaired in any manner whatsoever, one of the first requirements for improvement is to build up a better state of the general health.

It may have been your experience, just as it has been that of countless others, that signs of weakness of the eyes, falling of the sight, twitching of the eyelids and smarting and burning sensation have accompanied a condition of depleted vitality. After your health has been restored you have found that your eyes grew stronger and better, giving you little or no further trouble.

Practically every one has had some such experience. At all events, it is undeniably true that the condition of the general health is very largely reflected in the eyes, just as it is in the voice, in the complexion, in one's whole mental and physical bearing. As soon as you build vitality, strengthen the nervous system and improve the condition of the blood, the eyes acquire new vigor.

The reason for all this is obvious. The eyes depend upon the blood supply. If it is of the proper quality and purity it will tend to keep these organs vigorous, just as all parts of the body are thus kept vigorous. If the blood is in poor condition, filled with impurities and sluggishly circulated, then you cannot expect to keep your eyes, or any other part of your body, in the best condition. It is for this reason that good digestion, active elimination and general functional vigor must be considered if you wish to improve the condition of your eyes.

One of the first lessons for every man, woman or child to learn is that illness is one's own fault. It is purely a matter of cause and effect. Sickness comes as an inevitable result of habits and conditions of life which would logically produce such a result. Health is merely the effect of normal and natural habits of life. If you live in accordance with the laws of Nature you make illness practically impossible.

The truth is that it requires more energy to be sick than to be well. In a state of health the organs function properly, naturally and easily. But when one is sick the body has to struggle against poisons and the work of each organ of the body becomes a serious effort.

Market News

New York, May 19.—Uncertainty regarding the fate of the bonus measure in the senate and the effect on tax legislation in case that bill is repassed over the presidential veto, was reflected in dull and reactionary price movements in the first two hours trading on the stock exchange today. It was evident from characters of the transactions that all other considerations were subordinate to this political contest.

BULLET STILL CHIEF RESORT OF ALBANIANS

Sofia, May 19—Despite the fact that Albania has made marked strides during recent years in matters of self-government, the bullet is still a more effective political weapon than the ballot, as the recent waylaying and killing of two American tourists amply demonstrated.

It is to the bullet that Shekvet Verlatchi, the present Prime Minister of Albania, owes his elevation to office.

Before Shekvet Verlatchi the Prime Minister was Ahmed Bey Zogu. Shekvet Verlatchi was leader of a vigorous opposition, and pressure was constantly brought to bear upon Zogu to resign. Zogu, however, refused to quit his job until Verlatchi resorted to the methods in vogue in the days when Albania was the paradise of bandits and shot Zogu through the leg. While Zogu was in bed, nursing his wound, Verlatchi seized the reins of government and became Premier.

This episode in Albanian politics is reminiscent of the country of which Byron, the English poet, wrote: "Land of Albania, let me bend mine eyes

On thee, thou rugged nurse of savage men!"

Likewise it probably would have delighted the revolutionary heart of Byron, who was the first European to risk his life in wild Albania 115 years ago. Albania then was ruled by Ali Pasha, the greatest bandit chief of his time, who, Byron said, "with bloody hands swayed a nation turbulent and bold!"

Albania was an enchanted land to Byron, and he gave that country credit for inspiring his masterpiece, "Childe Harold." The wild scenery and chivalrous folk of Albania, Byron said, inspired him to resume his writing, which he had definitely sworn. The poem was begun while Byron was in Albania in the Autumn of 1809.

Because of the tribute paid to Albania in his poetry, Albanians are planning to observe with proper ceremony the centenary of his death on April 19. Byron died April 19, 1824, at Missolonghi, a small village in Greece, and Greece also is preparing to pay tribute to his memory on the 100th anniversary of his death. While Albania is not able to stage so elaborate a celebration as is planned by Greece, Albanians are planning ceremonies that will show their sincere and heartfelt veneration for the English poet.

In Byron's time it was characteristic of the Albanians that they never forgot a friend. Byron wrote of his fascination for the honesty and probity of the Albanians. The people of the country have not greatly changed since Byron's time. They are still the most chivalrous, most hospitable and bravest of the Balkan races. The old, bloody feuds among them still continue, but Albania nevertheless is today the safest country in Southeastern Europe. It is the only country where woman is respected and protected in a manner worthy of the feudal knight. In time of war the Albanian is one warrior who considers it death his dignity to hurt in offense women, children or old men.

PREACHER PROVES MOONSHINE POISON

Colorado Springs, Colo., May 17—Rev. W. G. Schaeffer, pastor of the United Brethren Church here, is giving a series of lectures against illegal liquor, accompanying them with intensive demonstrations of the physical dangers that lurk in the new-made "moon."

Several hundred members of his congregation were allowed to see and smell moonshine stills confiscated by officers, and also were permitted to sniff the finished product.

The exhibits, placed upon a platform in the church, included evil-smelling stills made out of old milk cans, with a scum of fusel oil on the bottom and decayed material clinging to the sides, and vial samples of the "hooch" as it is presented for sale.

Rev. Schaeffer declared, after his first lecture and demonstration that it probably was one of the most successful services ever held in his church.

"I believe there were many skeptics with the idea that moonshine might be all right, if they wanted to drink it," he said, "but they were apparently immediately converted to the belief that it is and always will be the rankest kind of poison."

BOARD AND ROOM AT $1.00 A WEEK LOOKED UPON AS FAIR PRICE SIXTY YEARS AGO

Board and room at $1 a week was considered a fair price sixty years ago, according to J. L. Miller, 340 East Church Street, Xenia.

Mr. Miller celebrated his eightieth birthday Monday. With Mrs. Miller, who is seventy, he was host to several friends from Springfield at dinner, Sunday in recognition of his birthday.

When Mr. Miller paid $1 a week for board and room, he was a school teacher receiving a salary of $17 a month, he says. He was born in Greene County, Pa., May 19, 1844, and as a school teacher most of his life.

It was when he first started teaching in Pennsylvania that he was paid $17 a month, says Mr. Miller. The work, however, was for only four months of a year. Out of the money he saved he purchased a new suit and a hat, the outlay for clothes costing him $5.

Mr. Miller then moved to Greene County, Ohio and fifty-five years ago was a student at the old Xenia College, East Church Street, near where he now lives. Pursuing his profession after completing his studies, he taught eighteen years near Muncie, Ind. Returning he taught eighteen years more in Greene County and was a correspondent for the Xenia Gazette from several different localities.

He moved from here to Georgia, where he lived several years, returning to Ohio and locating at Springfield. Last fall he came here with Mrs. Miller to spend the winter. Now they have decided to spend the summer also and may live here permanently. While teaching in Pennsylvania, Mr. Miller remembers hearing the sound of cannon during the Civil War.

Only a slight difficulty in hearing would indicate the weight of his years. Springfield friends who were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Miller Sunday and helped celebrated Mr. Miller's birthday, were W. H. Heiser and two daughters, Ruth and Catherine and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Heiser.

One woman suffered a fractured skull, another was less seriously injured and two young men and two young women were thrown into a stream in other traffic accidents over the week end.

EAST END NEWS

Mr. Frank Burton, of East Second Street, was called to Lebanon, Ohio, on account of the death of his nephew. A debate on two great days and a musical will be given by Springfield talent at the Christian Church Friday evening May 23.

The CARE-FREE COLUMN

COPYRIGHT 1924 by C. W. G.

It is hard to believe, yet true, that the hardest task in the home, the work of washing clothes, has been made care-free.

Women are not mechanics and should not be encumbered with the care of a complicated machine, along with the weekly wash.

Things for Women to Consider

Above all a washer should be simple. Free from continual mechanical adjustments. Nothing to watch or bring trouble; nothing to oil or clean, and noiseless and non-vibrating when in operation.

The perfect big copper tub of the Coffield rocks silently on airplane bearings nearly a hundred times a minute, turning over the clothes within the tub many times. Surging suds are forced through each garment, taking every atom of dirt out of the sheer as well as the stouter pieces. The clothes do not come in contact with a single piece of machinery; there is not a thing in the tub but the wash.

"See, even the cuffs are clean!"
Makes the cleanest clothes that ever came out of suds.

WILBERFORCE WINS ELEVEN INNING GAME

HOLD MASS DAY EXERCISES FRIDAY AT HALL IN ALPHA

Mass Day and the eighth grade commencement exercises of the Beaver Creek Township Schools, were held Friday at the K. of P. Hall, at Alpha. The program began at 10 o'clock, with the eighth grade exercises. A class of thirty-six pupils received diplomas from H. C. Aultman, county superintendent of schools. Music was furnished by the high school orchestra. After the eighth grade exercises, the children of the grade schools of the township presented a spring pageant, "The Shut-Up Play." The playlet included a chorus of 350 voices, from all the grades of the township. The pageant was under the direction of W. R. Sayers, music supervisor of Beaver Creek township schools.

At the close of the program, a basket dinner was served on the lawn. Women of the Beaver Grange served refreshments.

In the afternoon, a baseball game between Beaver High School and Central High School Xenia, was the feature. The game ended with a score 6 to 4 in favor of Xenia.

The following eighth grade pupils of Beaver Creek Township received certificates: Mary Volkenand, Ethel Coy, Naomi Darling, Florence Rosell, Helen M. Greer, Ruthanna Shoup, Catherine Marshall, H. Ginn McClain, Raymond Edwards, Marion Hess, Alice Moon, Florence Cyphers, Cleo Gentner, Helen May West, Arthur Thornhill, Abraham Anders, Ellsworth Stewart, Muriel Fair, Herman Zink, Charles Parks, Marion Bradford, Forrest Reese, Herman Davis, Paul Haines, Harold Gentner, Emma Benson, Ida Durnbaugh, George Miller, Joseph List, Hilda Bailey, Laverne Johnson, Ruth Ferguson, Irene Stafford, Charlotte Gabler, Pearl Rousch and Iola Frank.

INITIATE EFFORT TO MAKE AMERICA PROSPERITY SAFE

New York, May 19—A concerted and determined effort to make America safe for prosperity was initiated today when representatives of many of the country's manufacturers gathered at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

The occasion is the annual convention of the National Association of Manufacturers. The delegates emphasized the "business" should be carefully considered by the national political conventions and that plans should be inserted in the platforms to protect America industry.

Urging a defeat of the Howell-Barkley railroad bill, which is before congress, Samuel O. Dunn, editor of the Railway Age, said that the railroads were in the paradoxical position of being asked by the farmers and travellers to decrease their rates and by law makers to increase their expenditures.

It cost the railways 85 cents out of every dollar they earned in 1923 to pay their operating expenses and taxes, Dunn told the convention.

LOCAL ORCHESTRA PLAYS AT RESORT

"The Syncopation Girls" a women's orchestra of this city, have returned to Xenia, after a week's engagement at the main dancing pavilion, at Buckeye Lake.

The girls' orchestra was one of the opening features of the resort, and is scheduled for a return engagement later in the season.

Members of the orchestra are: Miss Mamie Burrell, saxophone; Mrs. James Leahy, violin; Mrs. Michael O'Connor, pianist; Mrs. Bushnell Turner, drums; Miss Mary Crawford, banjo, of this city, and Mrs. Josephine Hepner, of Dayton, coronet.

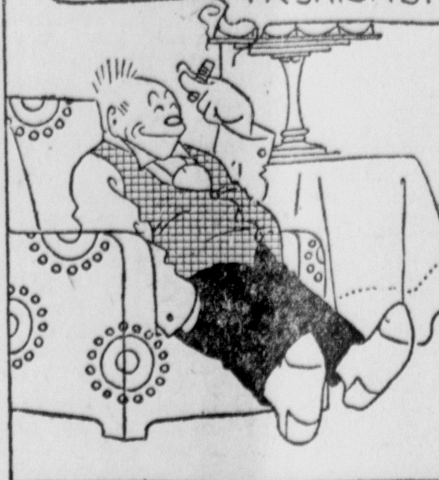

HAT MAY LEAD TO ARREST
OF MEN WHO STRUCK WOMAN
Cincinnati, Ohio, May 19.—The initials "J. H. R." in a soft felt hat may lead to the capture of the man who killed Mrs. Matilda Hamilton, 65, as she stepped from a street car last night. Four men were in a light touring car that hurled her a number of yards, killing her. The driver stepped on the accelerator and the automobile dashed away before the number could be read. But as the speed increased, a gust of wind blew the hat from one of the quartette.

THE HALF-TIME WIFE By VIOLET DARE

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY.

SUZANNE ATWOOD resents the fact that her husband, GEOFFREY ATWOOD, allows his secretary, MRS. LINDA VALE, to interfere between them. She herself has tried to thrust aside DUNCAN HALE, a former suitor, although he is sure that she still cares for him. Suzanne is very fond of Atwood's nephews, DICK and LAWRENCE LEIGH, and advises Dick in a boyish love affair with LOLITA, a chorus girl with whom he is infatuated.

XXX—A BIT OF ADVICE.

MEANWHILE Mrs. Vale and Lolita were driving rapidly toward the Atwood home. "It's the most absurd thing I ever heard of," Mrs. Vale was saying vehemently. "Of course I'm not going to have the marriage annulled. You must have lost your mind. When you're lucky enough to marry a millionaire—"

VIOLET DARE

"He won't get his money till he's thirty, and Mr. Atwood is his guardian; you know how he's going to act when he finds that Dick and I eloped."

"He's a sensible man, and he won't make any fuss," retorted Mrs. Vale, although she did not feel any too sure of Atwood's actions when he heard the news that Lolita had told her that afternoon. "We'll just tell him all about it—how you and young Leigh got married a month ago, and wasn't going to say anything about it, but decided that you simply couldn't bear to be separated."

"But that isn't true! I just want to see Dick; I'm worried about him. I didn't know till today that he was ill, and I hadn't heard from him for ages and was worried. So I called up the house, when I found that he'd left college a while ago, and they said there that he's got scarlet fever and is quarantined! And I've got to see him."

"Of course!" Mrs. Vale agreed warmly. "Certainly you've got to see him. If you hadn't been madly in love with him you'd never have married him."

"But I don't want people to know we're married, or he can't finish college," Lolita went on, still more tearfully. "We've just got to keep it a secret till he graduates. And I've been thinking it all over, and it seems to me that if the marriage could be annulled, why then, later on, we could be married again—"

"Nonsense! Later on things may be different. You just keep still and let me manage everything."

Lolita said no more. She was rather frightened. Presently Mrs. Vale continued.

"I've never let people know that you were my daughter because it made me seem so much older; you know that. And your grandmother brought you up so well, and then after you went on the stage, you got along so nicely—"

"Got along so nicely!" echoed the girl, bitterly. "When I was so poor and lonely and disheartened that I wanted to die! I'd have given anything in the world for someone to help and encourage me, but you wouldn't let me come to see you, even, because you were afraid people would know I was your daughter. As if anyone would be so infatuated."

"Leave everything to me."

have known!" She did not add that it was Linda Vale's hope of marrying Geoffrey Atwood that had come between them.

"Well, that's all over now, dear," her mother replied complacently. "And you're very lucky indeed to have Dick Leigh in love with you. Why, you'll live in that beautiful home; you'll have everything that you want."

"Mrs. Atwood won't want me," the girl answered.

"Mrs. Atwood probably won't be there," Linda Vale replied. "Unless I'm greatly mistaken, that marriage isn't going to last long. It was all wrong in the beginning; she's not at all the woman for a man of Geoffrey Atwood's brains."

"Yes, of course!" Mrs. Vale was quiet for a moment, as the car swept into the drive that led to the Atwood house. It wouldn't do to cross the girl now and get her any more excited, she reflected. Better wait until later for such differences of opinion as this one. "Now remember, leave everything to me. I'll talk to Geoff myself. I'm sure he'll let you see Dick—he can't object to that; probably the boy has been pining his heart out for you. Look at me—wipe your eyes and powder your nose; there, that's better. You must look as pretty as possible—that always counts with a man. Here we are!" And she swept up the steps and into the house, which Duncan Hale had entered but a few moments before.

30c for paint—
70c for labor

putting it on

That's how it averages up on most jobs. Two-and-one-half times as much for the labor as for the paint. So why risk your entire investment by yielding to the temptation to save a few cents per gallon on the paint you buy?

Good paint is always the cheapest.

Use Valdura Asphalt Paint and you will be certain of a satisfactory job.

Valdura Asphalt Paint

is better than most mineral paints because it is made of one of the rarest minerals known—genuine 99.5% pure Gilsonite natural asphalt—this makes it an absolutely waterproof preservative paint which possesses great durability. Valdura is also highly acid and alkali resisting. Can be used anywhere, indoors or outdoors, underground or above ground, and will always give perfect protection.

Valdura is made in glossy Black and rich, deep shades of Red, Brown and Green. It is put up in convenient sized containers from 1/4-gallon up; is all ready for use and can be applied by anyone. First cost is low and, based upon cost-per-year-of service, it is cheaper than any other paint made.
